

PFT Retiree Chapter

Hidden Gems of Southwestern PA

October 24, 2019

$80/person due by October 4, 2019

We will visit Lippencott Alpacas in the rolling hills of Southwestern Pennsylvania. It is a four-generation family farm. They began raising alpacas in 2005. They provide tours, educational seminars and classes in knitting and crochet. The showroom offers quality, authentic alpaca yarn and handcrafted items.

Lunch will be at the Century Inn in Scenery Hill with meal choices below.

Then on to Duncan and Miller Glass Museum in Washington, PA. The artistry of design, skill of the workers, and lovely colors distinguish Duncan and Miller Glass from others. In 1955 the production of fine handmade glass became uneconomical and the plant closed. The Museum is run by the Duncan Glass Society to preserve the heritage of glassmaking in our area and to celebrate the men and women who produced this glassware.
